Crystal Dairy Extends Plant

The extension of the Crystal Dairy, which has been contemplated for some time, is now to get underway, and the representative of Bennett & White, the contractors, is now on the ground making arrangements to commence the building.

The contractors intend to use as much local labor as possible. An advertisement for men will be found on another page.

When completed, the main building will be 56'x91', with an extension at the end for boiler and storage rooms.

The layout of the plant has been designed for the most efficient operation, and the modern dairy equipment has been on order for some time, and is arriving as fast as priorities will allow.

Included in plans is a cold storage locker system, which will accommodate 225 lockers.

When completed, Didsbury will have one of the best equipped creameries in the province.

Next Blood Clinic October 11th

The next Red Cross Blood Clinic for Didsbury is scheduled for Wednesday, October 11.

If your name is not now on the donors list, please register with the secretary of the local Red Cross, Mrs. W. A. Austin.

Didsbury Jottings By A.C.H.

What Alberta really needs is some rainproof wheat.

We hope the boys overseas are having a lot better weather than we are—for the sake of their morale. Can you imagine how it must feel to take a pair of undies off the Siegfried Line and dry them round the stove?

Said the glider-tug to the glider, "Going My Way?"

The Missionary Society held their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Ruth Eckel. The President, Mrs. Harvey Bowman, gave an address on the work missionaries are doing in the islands of the South Pacific. There are eleven more talks to follow, which should be most interesting. Each lady present promised to make a block for a crazy quilt. The society planned to hold a series of teas, the first of which is to be at the home of Mrs. Norman Clarke.

Fourteen ladies were present.

If Father O'Malley comes to town, can Bing be far behind?

Farewell Party for Dr. and Mrs. Seaman.

On Tuesday evening, the members of the Bible class, of whom Dr. Seaman is the teacher, and friends gathered at the home of Miss Marjorie Thede, in his honor.

A pleasant program of song, music and games was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Several special numbers, including a trombone solo by the doctor, a duet by Dr. and Mrs. Seaman, and a solo by Ward Sherrick, formed part of the program.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, after which, to express their appreciation to the Doctor as their teacher, the class presented him with a leather writing case. To Mrs. Seaman the class voiced their best wishes and presented her with a shower of handkerchiefs.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Seaman expressed thanks, and said they regretted leaving their many friends at Didsbury.

The World of Wheat

by H. G. L. Strange

WE MUST BUY IF WE WANT TO SELL

Our farmers are receiving much advice about what they should produce. They are being urged to go in more for diversified farming. "Surely", one of these critics said the other day, "our farmers have now learned how much better it is to produce livestock and livestock products than to confine themselves to grain production".

The trouble is that our prairie farmers can only produce commodities for which there is a good market, and which will return a price that will cover costs of production with some profit. Markets—which means mainly export markets—therefore, and not advice, govern the whole matter. To illustrate, this war has brought a large demand for hogs at remunerative prices. Our farmers quickly increased hog production and needed no advice nor urging to do so.

We must ever remember, however, that we cannot sell if we do not buy, and this means that if after the war large quantities of farm products are to be sold abroad, then Canadian people must be willing to purchase the goods of those foreign people who need our feedstuffs. This in turn means that high tariffs which now obstruct the importation of foreign goods, will have to be torn down. Those who earnestly desire to help farmers, therefore, can best do so by pressing our Government to tear down existing Canadian tariffs.

Orderly Hog Marketing Essential

Recent surveys indicate that Alberta hogs will continue to arrive on the market at steadily increasing numbers until well after the New Year. Killing and handling facilities are not as good as could be desired. They may become worse until winter comes, unless farm workers who are willing to work in the packing plants during the winter. If bottle necks such as were experienced in packing plants last winter are to be avoided, farmers will be obliged to control, very carefully, their weekly hog marketings.

To effect this control, farmers are advised not to fatten all their market hogs at the same time. Only pigs most advanced in age and size should be fattened. When these are just about ready for market, another small bunch should be penned up for fattening. For example, if ages and sizes permit, instead of marketing fifty pigs in the ten to fifteen day period they should be fed so that they will come on the market in groups of up to ten each week. In this way marketing will be spread over a period of at least five weeks. This suggestion, if followed, may require more work and time, but it will be better to put up with this inconvenience rather than run into marketing difficulties such as were experienced early last spring. It should be kept in mind, however, that it is just as important now as in the past to market hogs when they reach the live weight of 150 to 215 pounds.

Fall and winter swine breeding should be carefully planned and controlled. Sows should be bred so that farrowing may be spread over the entire year, rather than having the bulk of sows farrow at one time.
